Had Their Run.

Lesson of the Week in This City.

Many Sudden Fatalities From Pneumonia.

Dr. Hilton's Number 3 Would Have Saved All.

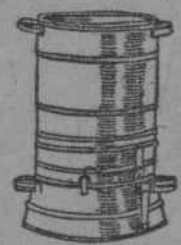

Think of the large number of deaths from pneumonia, bronchitis and grip in this city during the past week! All on account of little colds that were allowed to have their run. Stop the cold. Prevent pneumonia. Use Specific No. 3. Dr. Hilton told a reporter yesterday that after his experience of last winter, when thousands of bottles of his specific No. 3 had been used as directed, that in no one case had it failed to do just what he said it would; not a death from grip or pneumonia has occurred.

"I have closely watched the results," said the doctor, "and have had the assurance on every side that the specific has proved a success."

"Pneumonia is the bane of our climate. It has been increasing for a long series of years, and seems to be growing more fatal than ever. It is enough to cause great apprehension. I have proved that it can be stopped. The harmless little pellets that are known as 'Specific No. 3' do invariably cure colds with which pneumonia begins."

"This disease develops so suddenly from a cold that the only sure way of guarding against it is to cure the cold. And to do that I studied to make my specific. Its success, of course, has been very gratifying, and especially so because the very general use of the remedy has allayed to such an extent the severity of grip in this country."

"Pneumonia is an acute inflammation of the true lung tissue, and is the direct result of a cold. In my Specific No. 3 I have a remedy that, when used on the first indication of having taken cold, requires but a few doses to effect a cure. I have thoroughly tested, and know that it will cure a cold, the grip, bronchitis, hoarseness (singers and public speakers will find it an invaluable remedy for hoarseness, loss of voice from a cold), and that it will prevent pneumonia when taken as directed."

SAGASTIA READY TO STOP NEGOTIATIONS.

Spain's Peace Commissioners Have Conditional Instructions to Withdraw.

By James Creelman.

(Copyright, 1898, by W. R. Hearst.)

Paris, Oct. 15.—The probability of a rupture in the peace negotiations is now almost a certainty. The Spanish Commissioners made a desperate attempt in the joint session to uncover the plans of the United States regarding the future Government of Cuba. This was done by a direct command of Sagasta, that wily old fox of Spanish politics. When the American Commissioners declined to talk about the Cuban debt, on the ground that the United States would not consider any questions not included in the strict terms of the protocol, Montojo Rios demanded to know whether Spain was to surrender her sovereignty in Cuba to the United States or to a Cuban Republic, Chairman Day replied that he could not discuss that point, as Spain had agreed in the protocol to relinquish her sovereignty in the island unconditionally.

No Cuban Information.

Again and again the Spanish Commissioners tried to discover whether Cuba is to be independent or to be annexed by the United States. They declared that a national debt is transferred when sovereignty is transferred, and as Spain held the responsibility for the Cuban debt, she had a right to know to whom she was to deliver up her sovereignty in order that she might discuss the responsibility for the debt. The American Commissioners replied that while all this might have been true at one time, the signing of the protocol had put an end to all argument. Spain had sued for peace, had agreed to relinquish her sovereignty in Cuba, and thus the only thing for Spain to do was to depart from the island. The United States would not consider anything else. The dual commissions in Porto Rico and Cuba had met simply to arrange for the execution of the protocol, not to consider any original or extraneous propositions.

Rios twisted and turned in his arguments. He declared that the United States must at least assume the debt of Porto Rico, and declared that the financial administration of Porto Rico was a separate thing from the Cuban Treasury, and had always been so treated by the Spanish Colonial Department. The American Commissioners refused to be drawn out. They said that Spain must get out of Cuba, the protocol said so, and the protocol said nothing else. The Spaniards then gave up the situation in despair, and the meeting adjourned.

Spain in Dire Distress.

The political situation in Madrid is tragic. The spectre of financial ruin stalks through the whole land, and behind looms the sinister ghost of a revolution. Here in Paris are crowded the agents of Spain's despairing policy, seeking by a thousand secret channels to find an escape for the doomed Bourbon dynasty. Sagasta had fully expected that each Cuban bond issue would have become the subject for a separate discussion at the Paris Peace Conference, and the question whether or not the indebtedness should be imposed upon Cuba decided upon its merits, and by the light of historical precedents, in which the Spanish Commissioners are thoroughly versed. Sagasta thus hoped to transform the conference into a sort of court of arbitration, in which the judges would be divided equally between the victorious and the conquered nation. The American Commissioners, by a rigid interpretation of the protocol, and by their persistent refusal to admit the discussion of outside politics, have completely disconcerted Sagasta's adroitly laid plans, and caused such bitter disappointment that those in a position to know the facts no longer hesitate to say that in apparent disregard of the possible grave consequences of such a step, instructions have been sent to the Spanish Commissioners, authorizing them to withdraw from the conference and return to Madrid if they find that upon the disputed points their role is limited to agreeing without argument to the American demands.

Break Off Impending.

It is even predicted that the Spanish Commissioners are likely to take advantage of this authorization sooner than was expected, and with their task unfinished, they will be back in Madrid within ten days. Sagasta regrets M. Cambon's absence from Washington, but if the emergency arises the Madrid Cabinet would again appeal to the good offices of the French Ambassador at Washington and ask him to become the channel of communication, notwithstanding his temporary presence in Paris. Of course there will be an attempt made by the Republican leaders in the United States to excite the belief that Spain desires to upset the negotiations for the present in the hope that in case of a Democratic majority in the next Congress she can get more favorable terms. I can say with absolute certainty that Senator Gray, the only Democrat on the Commission, has refused from the beginning to even consider the possibility of the United States assuming or guaranteeing any part of the Cuban debt. His opposition to the Spanish demands has been unflinching.

ZANTE.

KAISER IN THE IONIAN ISLES.

The Imperial Pilgrims Delayed by a Storm in the Port of Zante.

Zante, Ionian Islands, Oct. 15.—

The Imperial yacht Hohenzollern, having on board the Emperor and Empress of Germany and their suites, has put into the harbor of Zante, owing to the fact that a strong sirocco is blowing. The yacht will remain here until the gale has abated. All the members of the Imperial party are enjoying good health.

FRENCH ARMY PLOT FAILS.

Only Result of the Proposed Coup d'Etat the Displacement of Several Officers.

Paris, Oct. 15.—The anti-revisionist papers regard the reported discovery of a military plot against the Government as being pure invention. The Figaro says it is informed that the French Generals agree in declaring that their duty is to show absolute obedience to the Government. The Gaulois classes the affair as "a conspiracy without conspirators." But in spite of this the papers which announced the conspiracy insist upon the exactness of their information.

The Petite Republique Française points out that there has been no official denial of the reported conspiracy. The Aurore asserts that the Government received warning of the plot from ten different sources and possesses important documentary evidence and statements of witnesses. According to the Petit Bleu, the generals engaged in the plot met at Versailles and sent emissaries to Prince Victor Bonaparte, who recently resigned the leadership of the Imperialist party in favor of his younger brother, Prince Louis Bonaparte, who is a colonel of Russian Lancers. The hesitation of Prince Victor, however, obliged them to turn in another direction. The Government, the Petit Bleu adds, received a number of reports in regard to the plot, one of them calling attention to the absence of a certain commander of an army corps from his headquarters.

The Paris states that Prince Victor Bonaparte left Turin on October 8 and arrived in Brussels on October 12. The paper adds that during this interval Prince Victor crossed the French frontier several times.

The number of the military patrols and the detachments of troops on duty at stationary points were decreased in strength to-day, except in the case of the troops on duty at the railroad depots, and the detachment of troops on duty at the Town Hall, near the Labor Exchange, which has hitherto been composed of a company of infantry and two troops of cavalry, has been entirely withdrawn. In addition, the soldiers are no longer confined to barracks, and are promenading the streets as freely as usual. Outside Paris, the same state of affairs prevails. The troops have been withdrawn from the railroad station at Rouen, where all fear of trouble has vanished.

The French Cabinet is examining into the case of Colonel Picquart, in regard to whose strict seclusion in the military prison of Cherbourg a conflict has arisen between the civil and military authorities.

London, Oct. 15.—Special dispatches from Paris say that the sole consequence of the abortive attempt at a military coup d'etat will be the early displacement of several officers of high rank.

Howling Parisian Mob Carrying Common Soldiers on Their Shoulders.

(Drawn by William Bengough, the Journal's Special Artist.)

To show their undying devotion to "l'armee," the crazy crowd, who were making a demonstration against Dreyfus, seized some common soldiers, who were out for their Sunday holiday. They raised them to the shoulders of their leaders, and forming a procession around them, roared down the boulevard "Vive l'armee!" shouted as if it was all one word, with the accent on the last syllable, "viv'ee-ah-mee." The crowd were made up of the most exaggerated specimens of Parisian character—hair and beards and clothes of ultra-eccentric cut.

Frantic Crowd Assaulting a Zola Sympathizer.

(Drawn by William Bengough, the Journal's Special Artist.)

During the anti-Dreyfus demonstrations in Paris on October 2, the mere suspicion that a Jewish-looking individual in the crowd was a Zola sympathizer was sufficient cause to challenge him with the shout, "Vive l'armee!" If the person did not join in the yell, he was first jeered and gradually hammered into a ruin. Then the whole crowd followed like a pack of wolves, hammering their victim with sticks, and invariably smashing his hat, if it happened to be a stiff one.

HAVANA.

MAJOR BEEBE'S CUBAN FUNERAL.

Havana, Oct. 15.—The remains of the late Major Beebe, of the United States Military Commission, were taken from the Colon Cemetery early this morning and transported to the Machina wharf under the direction of General Wade, Lieutenant Colonel Clous and all the members and staff of the American Commission.

The Spanish Commission was represented by Major Otranto Benitez, and Captain Amalaz represented the Spanish Admiralty. The Prefect, a delegation from the Cuban Patriotic Junta, delegations from the Cuban press and the editor of La Lucha also followed the body along the principal streets of the city to the wharf, where the coffin containing the remains was wrapped in an American flag, preparatory to being taken on board a tug, engaged to transfer the remains to the Orizaba, due to sail for New York to-day. The crowds of people lining the streets allowed the utmost respect as the funeral procession passed.

PORTO RICO.

TROOPS OUT FOR PICKET WORK.

Ponce, Island of Porto Rico, Oct. 15.—Three companies of the First Kentucky Regiment, mounted, left Ponce to-day for ten days' picket duty in the mountains. Before leaving they were reviewed by General Henry, who was much pleased with the general appearance of the soldiers.

He told Colonel Castleman that the officers were entitled to great credit for the exertions they had made to complete the mounted organization in so short a time. The General added that the regiment was one of which the Government had reason to be proud, and he also said the sacrifices made by the men in being retained in the service were appreciated.

In conclusion, General Henry said he trusted the regiment would soon be allowed to return home, there to receive recognition of the services which it had so bravely rendered.

COPENHAGEN.

LAST RITES FOR QUEEN LOUISE.

Copenhagen, Oct. 15.—The funeral services over the remains of Queen Louise of Denmark took place at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the Cathedral of Roskilde. The King of Denmark, the Czar of Russia, the Princess of Wales and all the Imperial and royal mourners arrived there by special train at 1:45 p. m. They drove to the Cathedral, which was filled with a distinguished gathering of high dignitaries.

The coffin, which was resting on a bier, was then carried by eight naval captains and eight colonels and placed on a catafalque near the altar.

The King of Denmark, who was greatly affected, followed the coffin. It came the King of Greece, the Crown Prince of Denmark, King Oscar of Sweden and Norway and others in full uniform, the contrasting colors of the uniforms forming a striking picture. They all took seats in the choir with the ladies of the party.

ASTRAKHAN.

KILLED IN A NAPHTHA FIRE.

Astrakhan, Russia, Oct. 15.—Seven barges, containing 300,000 pounds of naphtha, have been burned at the petroleum port of this district. Three persons were killed during the conflagration and several others were injured.

Turkey Gets the Crumbs. Constantinople, Oct. 15.—The Ambassadors of the powers have transmitted to the Turkish Government the decision of their governments on the subject to Crete, which sets forth that while adhering strictly to their ultimatum, Turkey may possibly later be permitted to maintain a small force on the island as an emblem of Turkish authority.

EGYPT.

MORE ANARCHIST PLOTTERS CAUGHT.

Certain Proof of the Scheme to Kill the Kaiser in Jerusalem.

Alexandria, Egypt, Oct. 15.—Several additional arrests have been made in connection with the plot against Emperor William, who is now on his way to the Holy Land to be present at the consecration of the Church of Our Saviour at Jerusalem.

The explosive in the bombs found was fulminate of mercury. Another box of bombs was found upon a table in the residence of the café keeper who was arrested Thursday evening. With the box were two bottles of wine and a quantity of provisions, as though they had been prepared for a traveler. They were probably intended to be taken by one of the conspirators taken into custody, who had engaged a place as a waiter in a hotel at Jerusalem and had secured passage on a Kuvshin liner sailing for Jaffa to-day.

Berlin, Oct. 15.—The German Consul-General at Cairo has called a report to the Foreign Ministry, confirming the discovery of the anarchist plot in Egypt to assassinate the Kaiser. The news has caused consternation throughout the Fatherland.

Despite the fact that, especially in Protestant circles, there reigns enthusiastic sympathy with the Imperial tour of the Orient, the fear is expressed on all sides that the Emperor's life is in imminent danger.

It is obvious that the Emperor will not have the protection in Palestine and Syria that he will enjoy in the English districts of Egypt, where the police have been instructed to exercise special vigilance during His Majesty's sojourn on the borders of the Nile. In the sparsely settled region of Asia Minor herds of outlaws are ever terrorizing the inhabitants, and it does not require much money or persuasion to induce these to co-operate with the anarchists of Europe, who it is known are on the trail of the Imperial party.

A vivacious woman can frequently speak in more elegant language than any known to the tongue of man. It can invite or repel, smile or frown, be meek or haughty, a passion that tatters or humbly seeks for giveance.

It can also tell the story of health. A woman who suffers from weakness or disease in a woman by way of cure in this way. It acts directly on the delicate and important organs concerned in withehood and motherhood. It tones and builds up the shattered nerves. It restores the glow of health to the pallid cheek. It gives springiness and trip to the carriage. It makes the eyes sparkle with returning vivacity. It imparts animation to the mien and gestures. The fan that long lay listless and idle in the lap of an invalid again speaks the eloquent language of a healthy, happy woman. Thousands of women have testified to the marvelous merits of this wonderful medicine.

For several years I suffered with prolapsus of the uterus, Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" cured me. My family physician treated me for kidney trouble, and everything else but the right thing. I grew worse and worse. My body was emaciated, hands and feet clammy and cold, stomach weak with great palpitation of the heart. I would suffer with nausea all night. I began taking "Favorite Prescription" and I began to improve right away. I have taken three bottles and now I am very healthy and am very happy and thankful to you.

Keep your head up and your bowels open. The "Golden Medical Discovery" will put steel in your backbone, and Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets will cure constipation.
